AN INTERVIEW WITH ZIRIA OF THE IRRADIA COUPLE FROM RUSSIA

By Kerry Cassidy

AUDIO INTERVIEW TRANSCRIPT – donated by a Camelot supporter

January 8, 2013

Kerry: We're going live right now. Hello everyone. I'm very sorry. We have been having some technical problems, as usual. Ziria has been having trouble I guess with her computer -- we're not even sure what the problem is. And so I apologize for the delay.

I'm not sure you can hear me at the moment, but hopefully you can. [Pause.] I think maybe you can hear me. Okay great, I'm glad to hear that. We are having some technical difficulties at her end; she is in Russia. We're trying to surmount them at the moment. She says she's going to see if she can get this going. If you could stand by, I'd appreciate it.

So, if everyone wants to go to the front page of Camelot and scroll down to my blog, I did add a .pdf that Ziria and her husband Radium wrote about their experiences, about their life, and it is available on .pdf. So you can get that there while you wait and take a look at it. Hopefully it'll work.

Okay, she does not have radiation sickness. So stand by -- I'm trying to get her on the line. [Pause.] All right. It doesn't seem to be working at the moment. I know she's trying to work on her modem. She has trouble -- I know that she affects computers. And so it may be that she was nervous and affected her computer and this is maybe what we're dealing with. Again

I'm sorry that I can't explain more but I don't actually know more about what's going on at her end.

I do know -- and you will see if you read the .pdf on my blog about her life story -- that both she and her husband have had a great deal of family problems, and they've been I guess tortured and beaten and all kinds of craziness has gone on behind the scenes. And so that's part of the story.

They have also been abused by Russians: apparently their neighbors and all kinds of people are very rude to them, and so on. So whatever it is [that] is going on here, a lot of people are highly triggered by what is going on with them. And that's unfortunate. I have sent her our interview with Valery Uvarov, and if you haven't seen the Valery Uvarov interview, I highly recommend it. Anyway, I've also asked her if she's met Boriska. So hopefully we're going to get to some of these questions and get the answers.

Even if this doesn't work, we will eventually get a written transcript I have no doubt, because she's been working very hard on this. She's a very conscientious person; she's been extremely concerned, and wanted to make everything perfect. And I was trying to encourage her to understand that, you know, that we don't need things to be perfect in order for her to talk to the world. But she's very concerned about her Russian -- her English, I mean, and concerned about the translation.

We've got two translators by the way, standing by to help, and they've been in communication with her, and I want to thank them right now. Let's see, I haven't actually asked them if I can publicize their names so I'm not going to do that at this time, I'm going to wait. But two translators are here. They've been standing by and very willing to help, and they've been in contact with her. [Pause.] Okay, it sounds like we just lost somebody -- not sure who.

We have a lot of questions from the audience as well, and I have to say that because she likes to prepare -- and I do appreciate we've got lots of questions, some of which will already be handled in the questions that I've prepared for her in advance, everything had to be prepared in advance so that she could take a look at it and understand whether she could make sense of it. Hopefully we'll be able to move on from here.

Okay, she says she's ready, so hold on one second, here.

Hello Luba?

Luba: Yes.

Kerry: And Ziria? Do we have Ziria? Okay, it looks like we had Ziria for a moment. Going to try this one more time. Hmm, guess that hung up again.

Let's see -- Luba? I'm going to have to hang up on you guys and try her by herself and see if that connection works better.

Luba: Okay, that's fine.

[Pause trying to reach Ziria.]

Kerry: I don't know if she's gone offline again, or what is going on. She's going to text me. All right, I'll try calling her again.

Ziria: Hello?

Kerry: Hi, Ziria?

Ziria: Yes. Hey Kerry, very nice to hear you. Sorry, very sorry for that misunderstanding. I am having problems with the internet.

Kerry: I understand. No problem. I'm very, very happy to hear your voice. We do have an audience; you are live right now. So please say hello to everyone.

Ziria: Yes. Welcome all the participants who are joining our conference now. I am very grateful to Stewart Swerdlow for posting our video and the dissemination of information about us. Thanks a lot.

I also want to warn you that I will not talk too [loudly] because I am not the only one at home. Here with me is a very hostile person who causes me a big problem. Therefore I will speak to you very carefully, okay?

Kerry: I understand, and we really appreciate it. Everyone has been waiting very anxiously to hear from you and thank you so much.

Ziria: Forgive me for my lame English. I am just learning to speak English . . . I do not have the time and opportunity to learn English properly. But I really want this.

Kerry: Well, you're doing a great job already, so don't worry at all. Would you like to start with the questions now?

Ziria: Yes, yes, yes.

Kerry: Okay. So I will read the question, and then you can answer. Is that okay?

Ziria: Okay.

Kerry: So, here we go. The first question is, to please talk about your birth as you remember it, and whether you recall any childhood dealings with other beings, discarnate entities, or hidden presences. Please include how old you are, and your date of birth.

Ziria: [For my] husband I only know that he was born in Moscow, 26 September, 1984. His mother, by all accounts, should not have [had him] -- she could not have children. Therefore, is some uncertainty as to whether he is her true biological son or not. I do not know the details.

Let me tell you more about myself. My childhood is full of secrets and mysteries. I have two birthdays: one date is real, the other date is my passport. The first date of birth is 26 April of 1986. The second date of birth [is] official but not biological: 9 June 1989.

I remember being born in Chernobyl. I was connected with a first incarnation near the Chernobyl reactor number 4. I have the experience to move back in time. I felt big jumps in time. But then one day some very bad people did something to me: [I was] stolen, and they put me in a strange city in the Ukraine far from Chernobyl. They [put] me up for adoption in the so-called foster care where the bastards abused me for twenty-one years. I went through childhood suffering permanent physical injuries, beatings, torture, and mental violence.

[Those around] at the time treated me very [hostilely]. My life was constantly under threat of death. I am very different from all the people from the earth. I never [knew] my biological parents. For me, so far, the question of my origin is a mystery. I would love to know more.

These so-called adoptive parents told me that when I was a little child my skin was blue, and big blue eyes without pupils. They always called me a freak, mentally and physically for the fact that I am so different from other people -- outside, physiologically -- and spiritually. As a result, they constantly hit me. Besides, the so-called father was a complete drug addict and alcoholic. For any manifestation of my personality and my will I was beaten. If I did not carry out their orders, I was again beaten. I always resisted their intentions, so I had to suffer. I had almost [the] necessity to learn tricks and deception. I always lived in fraud; I had to constantly lie to survive.

Why do I know the first [birthday] -- my real date? Because I remember really about the entire past from the beginning of the production of my body. My body was undergoing major physical changes after the birth [on] the [Earth]. This memory came back to me after contact with aliens; it begins in November. . . .

Kerry: You don't know the year -- it's okay. So you had contacts with aliens? Can you describe the aliens?

Ziria: Let's continue. My very close friends from the past live on the planet Erios which is in another dimension of another universe. They have saved me twice. The first time, I [was] returned my memory and pure consciousness, and the second time as a result of another trauma to me [from] the so-called adoptive parents. I was in intensive care with bleeding and eighty percent loss of blood. The doctor said [to] me that with that loss of blood, no one survives. But I survived.

I had a blood transfusion, after which [great changes began to occur in me]. I know that they saved me. Otherwise, I would have died. At the first contact I asked them to take me [with them] because I was [feeling] very bad, but they said to me it was not the time to leave this planet. I have a great future and I have to do something very important. They told me to wait, be patient, and be tricky to be able to wait and lie in order to survive until I can make an escape. From that moment I began to plan an escape.

In the year 2008, [I met my husband on the internet] on one esoteric forum. We found each other and we immediately agreed. So I moved [to live with him]. I was planning to escape in advance. I managed to escape from the Ukraine on May 9, 2008 to live with my husband in Moscow.

There is still a lot of information I would like to tell, but it's too much data. Therefore, so far, this all is what I wanted to say about this.

Kerry: Very nice. I will go to question two now, for you?

Ziria: Yes.

Kerry: Okay. Please talk about your early upbringing and when you first realized you couldn't digest food, and when you started encountering radiant materials that would feed you.

Ziria: Yes. As I said before I had a very difficult childhood, with these so-called adoptive parents who are not my biological family. [They] always tried to do everything so I was like other people. They tried to break me on a psychological level, the physical level, and the physiological level. Of course they made me eat the food [other people were] eating.

From an early age, they began to notice that I turned away the food, but they did not pay attention to it, and continued to make me eat it and beat me. As a result, when I ate this food my body [got] sick, I was sick. Doctors explained it by the fact [of it being] a common cold and poor immune system. In fact, such a reaction was from the food that they gave me.

Since childhood I had an instinctive attraction to any sort of radiation. I remember when I was a year old, I loved to approach the old TV tube.

Kerry: Yes, TV. We understand.

Ziria: -- Old TV, old TV, and cuddle [it with it with my naked body]. These bastards [were] noticing my passion and forbade me to do so. They beat me for the fact that I ran to radiant energy. Also, I remember the experience with a quartz lamp in my childhood. I instinctively felt the high content of radioactive isotopes everywhere -- in the soil, in food. Unknowingly, as a child I learned that it was the high content of radioisotopes. And also various mushrooms which had content of radioisotopes.

My body does not get energy from organic food, but [it] is able to completely absorb from the food all such radioisotopes which are contained in it. Also, I remember being eight years old and trying to reach the power lines. I realize I was instinctively drawn to stand under power lines and [be] exposed to electromagnetic waves from there. It is a great feeling.

The most interesting thing that I notice is that the most powerful effects on the body [is] to have power lines in a pyramid structure -- the electromagnetic energy within such structures concentrate in a special way. I go into there, get into the center, and begin to be irradiated. It's a very strong interaction. I was always looking for an opportunity to stand again and again under such power lines and get energies. The energies very [strongly] charge me; this [is] unbelievably powerful.

[My] first man-made source of radiation [I had] in Ukraine when I was starting on the Institute of the Department of Environmental Engineering. Honestly, I became not so beautiful, but I had no choice because my body really needed it. It's a department where [there are] dosimeters [which] control a source of radiation. This was a source based on strontium-90 and a source of cobalt-60. The source of strontium was a separate container, but the source of cobalt-60 [was] very incorporated into the dosimeters. I had done very cleverly. I was able to steal the sources of radiation and to use them for food. I didn't ever think that [anyone was] troubled that I [stole] strontium. No one knew where [these] radiation sources [went]. But do you understand me? I had no choice; my body much needed radioisotopes -- I had to steal them.

And just between 2004 and the year 2007, I had the opportunity to go to Chernobyl and Slavutych. There I called [the] "bones of biological resources" of my body. I ate radioactive earth, got earth isotopes in different ways. When I first came to Chernobyl I finally remembered all years past -- my past. I got this, and realized I was born there. All of my memories my friends from another planet [helped me restore]; [these memories were] fully recalled after I was able to come to Chernobyl for the first time after such a long break.

Then starting with the year 2009, I went to live with [my] husband in Moscow. We began to think about how we find food for ourselves, and started to learn all that might contain radioactive isotopes. We have taken a great interest in mineralogy and learning all about radioactive minerals. We began to attend exhibitions in Moscow [and find] minerals and radiative minerals through through [our] senses, without dosimeters. We just felt the sensations in which minerals contain radiative substances and each in what quantity.

The first man-made sources of radiation we encountered [were] in June 2009 when we made a secret [expedition] to the territory of the military unit in Moscow. We have always been attracted to the theme of "stalking" and the opportunity to visit in secret facilities, explore, and learn. This is our secret passion. We have always been very attracted to these extremes, and the husband as a child [had] a passion for it -- [and] me too. From an early age I loved to penetrate the protected areas for some reason it has always attracted a lot. It's like a drug. The constant desire to explore what is hidden from the rest of the [people].

Then in June of 2009, I with my husband arrived on such a military unit, which we told one friend, and she said [to] us that there may be radioactive substance [in] this territory. We came back and began to look for food in this territory. The military unit has been partially abandoned [but it still] has been operating. So for us it was high risk of getting caught when we were there. We did not have dosimeters, we had nothing, only our feelings. We found a man-made source of radiation, this a smoke detector which [had] two sources of plutonium-239 inside. Since it was only two radiation sources we decided to leave one of the sources [for] external exposure of the body, to wear pendants of that form. And the other source of radiation we broke in half and ate it, as it gave us a big boost of energy, and we felt that [for] our [bodies] it was very necessary. In the future, we continued to visit exhibitions and to look for radioactive minerals, stones, some of which we ate at home, and some we left for the external exposure of [our bodies], to wear on [ourselves], or just to communicate with them. We will hear the radiation from each source and are able to communicate with the stones, man-made sources of radiation, and the like.

Once at an exhibition of minerals, we [met] with one person who sells radioactive minerals. Later he was able to supply us with uranium ore, as well as a large number of man-made sources of radiation. Thus, our food supply has become replenished and we were able to recover physically for these three years. We were able to fully restore all the damage that had been in our bodies as a result of our unfortunate past. Then we were able to make trips between Moscow and the Moscow region [to] strategic objects and places with high levels of radiation. We looked for the sources of radiation and confiscated them. [You could say] we cleaned Moscow of radiation sources. The most common site of our visits was the territory of the park Kolomenskoye, called the Kolomna's radiation anomaly. There are so many sources of radiation [there from] an accident of the plant, [and] metals are among them. The most interesting thing is that, my husband, before we met, [was] strongly attracted to this place. But he was afraid to get [into] the territory of the plant materials and explore what it is that [attracted him] so much. Only when we moved in together I made [him] go [there] because I felt that we needed to get there. I'm not afraid of difficulties, so I initiated that we went into the territory for intelligence. It turned out that [I did not insist on it] in vain; it turned out that this place is very rich in food for us.

Kerry: Okay, wait one moment. Can you say the name of this place again please?

Ziria: This place?

Kerry: Yes. The place where you say it's very rich in Moscow with radiation for you. Where is this place?

Ziria: This place [is located in] the territory Kolomenskoye, in Moscow.

Kerry: Kolom --

Ziria: Kolomna's radiation anomaly, we call it.

Kerry: Okay.

Ziria: Radioactive air and clay, a conglomerate of radioactive isotopes [where] we were able to eat enough. But you know, it turned out that the Kolomenskoye has an unusual aura and unusual history. It has always been an anomaly, even before the incident at the [metal] plant. I became very interested in for what reason, what was the cause, of the anomaly in the Kolomenskoye. You'll laugh, but the cause of the anomaly in Kolomenskoye [found us]. At a time when we went out to the area [for] excavation of the new food, the radiation monitoring service MOS radon [worked in the area]. They [were] very engaged in transporting radioactive materials from the area. You know, they have dug to a depth [and found] something. It was meteoric matter. A large [blue] mineral. These idiots do not understand what it is, and [they] piled [it] up [with the other] the radioactive material they were going to take out. I saw this mineral and knew immediately that it has an extraterrestrial origin. I knew immediately that [it had been piled] on the land for a long time. It was the main reason for the anomalies of Kolomenskoye. We took home this mineral: it was very heavy, weighed twenty-six pounds. I think about this mineral we could talk a long [time] at other times because it is a separate issue; I do not want to move away from the main topic now.

Kerry: Ziria, what is the name of this mineral you are talking about?

Ziria: Name?

Kerry: The name of the mineral.

Ziria: I do not know a name. No names.

Kerry: Ah, okay.

Ziria: It is extraterrestrial material.

Kerry: Extraterrestrial material, okay. I was trying to get one of our translators to answer my question. If they could put into the chat on Skype if they are listening, if either of the translators are listening. If you could put into the Skype chat the spelling of the place that she is speaking about, so that I can tell people that are listening the name of the place where she is describing, in English, so that we can understand it better.

[To Ziria.] Do you want to move on to the next question?

Ziria: Yes, yes.

Kerry: Okay. Please talk about your relationship with animals and plants, including wild animals, if you have any experiences as a child or adult with them.

Ziria: Yes, with animals I and my husband have always [had] very positive relationships and harmony [with them]. My husband in his childhood experienced living in the forest, and at one time he lived with the wild wolves. He talked to them, and they came near him when he was eight years old.

I have experience with the birds. I can speak the birds' language and they understand me. As well, I am very well aware of all reptiles. The greatest connection I feel is with birds and reptiles. [With] mammals for some reason, [for me] as a child, [it] did not work out. I do not know why. My husband [and I have] an energy aura difference. This is very illustrated by the reaction of the dogs. From my birth, many dogs react with me hostilely. I note that dogs are typically bred by men. I respond well to the wild beasts and wolves. [But] what about dogs. Almost all dogs have [damage] in their structure of DNA; their injuries make them extremely susceptible to electromagnetic fields.

Kerry: Yes.

Ziria: The more damage the dog has, the more it is susceptible to electromagnetic fields. Dogs start to go crazy with it, which makes them uncom . . .

Kerry: Uncomfortable?

Ziria: Yes. Aggression.

Kerry: Aggravated, yes.

Ziria: In this regard, many dogs react negatively to me. They throw themselves at me all of a sudden for no reason. My husband has a different, contrary energy; he is able to subdue the dog if it shows aggression. His energy is sobering, and the dog [loses] its desire to attack. I want to note also that the difference in my energy field, and the energy field of [my] husband, also lies in the fact that my energy is capable of disabling any equipment -- computers, radio. I can unknowingly carry [out] cyber attacks without even knowing. My husband is opposite. He may uncons. . . .

Kerry: He made? I'm sorry. Could you start the sentence again?

Ziria: -- may unconsciously adjust the work of any equipment, computers. . . .

Kerry: Yes, we understand.

Ziria: . . . [with] contact or non-contact methods. I think that I find it is easier for me to make a mess in the work of the technical devices, and easier for [my] husband to adjust [them to] work. This is all I wanted to say, briefly.

Kerry: Okay, what about cats?

Ziria: Cats are normal -- normal reaction. Natural.

Kerry: A natural reaction? Do they react well to you?

Ziria: Yes.

Kerry: How about birds?

Ziria: Birds [have] a very positive reaction. Birds and reptiles react to me very [positively].

Kerry: Okay. I'll go to the next question, okay?

Ziria: Yes, yeah.

Kerry: All right. How much exposure to radiant materials do you need, and how does ionizing radiant material differ from non-ionizing material? How does it feel -- how do you feel the difference, and can you describe that?

Ziria: I have found out for [myself], for the proper functioning of my body, I do not need much. I need just one important chemical reagent or any oxide to satisfy [my hunger]. This nuclear fuel works [with] my body perfectly without a hitch. I need a pound of uranium oxide per month for an ideal body condition, and ordinary water. Basically, I can not have anything more than the uranium oxide and ordinary water. As well, as have a little need for chemical reagents, rare earth elements, and alkali metals. We work on the genetics of other chemical elements. Let me draw an analogy.

Instead of calcium, we need strontium. Instead of potassium, we need cesium. Instead of iron, we need uranium and plutonium. Instead of oxygen, we need radon and other noble gases -- especially krypton and xenon. For normal operation of the central nervous system we need europium and lutetium. Very many examples I could give. But it is basic for you to understand the essence. For oxygen, we have this problem from birth: it is very hard to breathe oxygen. Our lungs are receptive to all inert gases. I can easily breathe a hundred percent concentration of radon, krypton, and xenon, as well as other inert gases as necessary. The greatest physiological need is of course radon. When I first breathed high [concentration] of radon,

I felt that my lungs straightened. I can say for sure that in the ordinary air my lungs are very victimized, only [functioning at] ten percent. I almost did not feel that I breathed. And only then when the air [contained] elevated radon [did] I feel that my lungs started to come alive, and I could really breathe.

Talking about feelings of ionizing radiation, it is all easy. I can feel the radiation with all the known senses: sight, hearing, smell, touch, taste. I see [with my] eyes the scintillation flash. With hearing I can hear high frequencies. With sensation I feel the momentum of each particle, feel [it move] into my palm. By taste, I can determine the exact composition of the material of radioisotopes, the percentage ratio of specific types of radioisotopes. All these feelings I have are directly proportional to their radiative power from the source of radiation, as well as the type of radiation: alpha, beta, gamma radiation.

I spoke in more detail about this in my blog.

Kerry: Yes, okay. I want to ask you a question that's not on the list.

Ziria: Ask the next question?

Kerry: Can I ask you why your hair is so short? Is your hair okay, or not? On your head. You know, why you cut your hair so short? [Pause.] You understand "hair?"

Ziria: Yes, yes.

Kerry: Is this style? Or sickness, or . . . preference?

Ziria: Yes.

Kerry: Can you explain? [Pause.] Style? You understand "haircut?" You don't understand? Okay, do you want to move to the next question?

Ziria: I am confused.

Kerry: Okay, no problem. People with cancer have very short hair sometimes, you know?

Ziria: Um, yes.

Kerry: So people wonder why you cut [your] hair so short? Short hair. [Still no answer.] Shaved head? You know what I mean?

Ziria: Can you just leave [this], please.

Kerry: I will ask -- if you can look into the text? -- and one of our translators will write. . . . Can one of the translators please text Ziria what I'm asking her? Are you able to do that?

If one of the translators can text you, I think that we have a --

Ziria: I am not to text. [A translator texts the question to Ziria in Russian.] Oh. This is not a disease; this is not from exposure to radiation. This is my desire.

Kerry: Desire? Okay.

Ziria. Yes. It's my desire.

Kerry: Okay. Thank you. I'm going to ask you the next question on the list. Number five, and the question is: after consuming radiant material or ionizing radiation, how long does it last before you need more? Has the amount changed over time? Is it the same for Radium as it is for you, or different?

Ziria: Kerry, it all depends on what kind of stuff we eat. As far as the concentration of the radioisotopes, the substance, and what type of radioisotopes. The lower the concentration of radioisotopes, the more that we need to absorb the substances to satisfy [our] hunger.

More important, what [strength] are the radioisotopes. For example, in a day I could eat five tablespoons of powdered uranium oxide, and not feel hungry during the day. At [the same time], I could drink twenty milliliters of polonium chloride, because the radiant energy of polonium-210 is very powerful. Its alpha radiation gives energy very quickly when swallowed, and it interacts instantaneously.

As for the external exposure, there are no limits on the radiation dose. I myself and [my] husband can [wear] a radiation source of 150 roentgens per hour, or 1000 roentgens per hour. But it will not be safe for [other] people themselves, understand. Therefore, I can contact such sources of radiation only when I do not have contact with other people. [For] external radiation, I feel a constant need; I need to wear on [my] body a weak source having gamma radiation. Gamma radiation is very important to my body as an external radiation.

Let's take the next question.

Kerry: Okay. I have a question that's not on the list, and if you don't want to answer it that's okay. Your husband is in a mental hospital right now, yes?

Ziria: Yes.

Kerry: But if he does not get his radiation, will he get sick? If they do not give him. . . .

Ziria: No, no. He's not sick.

Kerry: Will they try to give him his radiation? In other words, how will he eat? How will he survive energetically?

Ziria: [Pause.] Can you text, please?

Kerry: Okay, if they [translators] could say [to Ziria]: "How will Radium survive without radiation to eat?" [Pause.] [To Ziria:] Are you able to see the question?

Ziria: Sorry. [Pause.]

Kerry: Okay, if we don't have a translator, I guess. I don't know if the translators understand or, what's going on. So, do you want to go to the next question?

Ziria: Ah, I understand. Husband. . . .

Kerry: This is the question, in writing, in English; I don't know if you can see that.

Ziria: Yes, yes. I'm also without radiation, and [my] husband [is] without radiation after the incident of May 12th, last year.

Kerry: So you do not have radiation for food now?

Ziria: Yes. No radiation source.

Kerry: Oh. How do you survive?

Ziria: I don't know.

Kerry: Okay. Do you want to go to the next question?

Ziria: Yeah.

Kerry: Okay. Do you have any friends or people who have contacted you with similar abilities to digest radiant materials?

Ziria: You mean people who eat the same radioactive isotopes, and are irradiated from external radiation, and are able to get out this life energy?

Kerry: Yes.

Ziria: Not in my life. I have never met such people, [no]. But all can be [possible] in this world.

Kerry: Next question: Do you know who Boriska is? Have you met him?

Ziria: Yes, we know about this child of Indigo, but we've never met him in [person], and have not transcribed [corresponded] on the internet. Personally, I would love to get to know him, because I feel it is useful to communicate with people. I know the Martians. Their intentions [are to] collect [further] actions of people. They are most concerned about the desire of people to live on Mars. Since this topic has yet to work for people -- [it's] still ahead.

Kerry: Are you familiar with the movie The Matrix? Have you seen it?

Ziria: [Laughing.] Yes, of course I've seen it, more than once. This is one of my favorite films, favorite movies. My inner eyes and vision of the world is very similar to the movie. I always see [with an] eye of radiation. I see through, I do not see what is outside, but what is hidden inside. I know that our world is multidimensional. We come from the radiation measurements; as no one [else], I understand this point. People are constantly staying in several dimensions. But they are not able to accept it if their thinking is less -- [e.g.], three dimensional.

You can never trust anything that surrounds you. As they say in my favorite expression, nothing is what it seems. This is based on what my world [has been] since my birth on this planet.

Kerry: [Laughing.] Okay, very good. Have you watched any of the video interviews on Project Camelot?

Ziria: Yes. Thank you very much. I am starting to get acquainted with your site since I recently met you. Before that, I did not know you, alas. You have a lot of very interesting information. I need some time to analyze it, but it is very nice to see a project such as yours are taking place now. This is a very hot topic. I wish you to continue to develop this project.

Kerry: Very good, thank you. Do you know who the Illuminati are, and do you understand about the various ET races and alliances they have made with humans?

Ziria: Oh, oh . . . Illuminati. The worst subject [for] all people now. Yes, I already terrorized [by] people on Facebook asking the same questions. Why [do] I say it in my profile that my political alliances are Illuminati? As well as wondering why our video with Stewart Swerdlow both of us have [hanging off of] our neck pendants which is a symbol of the Illuminati -- the seeing eye.

All right. I will respond in turn. My attitude to the Illuminati is very non-standard. Excuse me, but I cannot say that I treat them negatively. In any case, personally, [they have not done me] any wrong or evil. I have no right to judge them negatively, if they have not done anything bad to me specifically. That is my position. This consciousness of radiation, the mind of the elements of nature, how you relate to the elements, the elements will relate to you. If [they] did not do anything wrong, then my attitude cannot be bad in relation to someone else. And no matter who and how much [people] express their dislike and disgust for [them], how much they [are hated] and name-called around the world, for radiation, it's not a fact. For radiation fact is just what she sees in person.

My opinion is unshakeable. It is based on the consciousness of radiation. I only see the facts. For me it is a fact that they have not done me any harm. That, to me, is a fact. I honestly do not care what the Illuminati are doing in the political arena. I do not want to go into the details, what political activities they are [doing] in the world. I see in them what is hidden inside. I was attracted by the fact that they see other people. I have a very well developed empathy from birth. I can feel and empathize for those ones [for whom] I feel an inner attraction. This is an internal response in my heart and soul; I always listen to [what] my heart and soul tells me. It never fails me.

I know many people might not like what I say. But I need to find something good and a bright light. Their soul is light too, but they never show it. I know that feeling can be changed to the light and love -- this is real. And you can express the inner light best by radiation. And you know that light is beautiful, it's very beautiful if you look [at] them in the eyes of the soul of radiation.

As for the symbol of the All-Seeing Eye, it just so happens that this is the only character invented by mankind to which we have awakened an inner response of the soul. I always listen to what inside me responds. This is the only character that can awaken a response in me. I am not talking about the radiation symbol because that symbol was not invented by humans. It has an [absolute] outside extraterrestrial origin.

The Seeing Eye has a great importance to me. The concept of the "trinity" is very akin to the concept of radiation. The triangle symbol [has followed] me through life constantly from birth, and to me, are those things [with which] I feel a mutual response. And at a glance, I have a lot of triangles shown. My husband has a birthmark on his shoulder that is a number three. In general the concept of the trinity follows us throughout life constantly.

[The] Eye of the triangle for me means one very important thing -- the ability to see beyond "reality." To see all that is hidden, an observer. This is very akin to me in my character and inner peace, and my inner [way].

Kerry: Okay. I think . . . let's see. Do you have a problem with the government of Moscow? Of Russia?

Ziria: Yes. Is this starting with [the] next question, talking about problem with Russian government?

Kerry: Yes. It's not a question on the list. But can you answer a question about Illuminati and religion?

Ziria: It's about the hybrids [the next topic on the list].

Kerry: Religion, and the Russian government?

Ziria: Religion?

Kerry: Religion. You understand the word "religion?" [Pause.] Okay, maybe we'll ask another time.

Ziria: Yes, I continue . . . I continue.

As for hybrids and extraterrestrial races. All men, humans are hybrids, only one extraterrestrial race -- the race from the planet Sirius. People are hybrid creatures [of] Sirians and dolphins. All other mixes of other extraterrestrial races are only the result of genetic experiments of human beings and the inhabitants of Sirius.

I know very well the Sirians. I and [my] husband Radium in the past were on the planet Sirius. We had with them then a [wrong] relationship for some reason. It is better to skip it. So these "pranksters" are watching humanity from the beginning of mankind as a race, since they first arrived on Earth. They developed the project together with a race from the planet Pluto, which are completely mad and insane scientists. They are crazy about their experiments and tests. The Sirians collaborated with the residents in Pluto and Plutonians [on] the pilot program of humanity. This program still exists. The only difference is that the population of people, of Plutonians, they almost died as a result of some significant event and with [which] we also participated [in] and witnessed in the past.

Dolphins are the only creatures on the planet that have a direct genetic link to people. Therefore, it is vital to humanity to establish a rapport with the dolphins. People have one help [trait] of dolphins: excessive credulity and naiveté. This is your weakness. [The Sirians] took advantage of this weakness to conduct their experimentation on [people]. They took advantage of their sincerity and trust. Sirians themselves are extremely clever and quirky creatures. I know them.

I was most amused by one physiological trait that has been passed genetically from the Sirians. The planet Sirius [has] a very high ammonia [content]. Sirians [live] in a tough ammonia environment. I personally watched how strong [an] addiction may be abused with ammonia. I can certainly say that the ability toward bad habits, preferences -- alcohol, drugs -- is passed on [by] the people of Sirius. This distinctive feature for those people who most strongly have the native Sirians' DNA is addiction to ammonia. It's funny, but it's true.

Kerry: So you're saying Sirians, the race of Sirians, and humans that have genetic DNA from that race, are addicted to ammonia?

Ziria: Yep.

Kerry: Oh. Interesting. Ah, okay. [Laughing.] Do you know about Greys and Reptilians?

Ziria: Yes, of course.

Kerry: And do you know where the Greys are from? The different ones? The planets? [Pause.] Okay, do you want to go to the next question?

Ziria: Yes.

Kerry: Okay. Please talk about why you want to leave Russia, and what kind of working and living situation you are looking for.

Ziria: Oh. This is a most important topic for us right now. As I said earlier, we started to live together and replenish stocks of radioactive isotopes. It gives us life and energy; it can restore our bodies and our health. We started to really wake up and [feel] restored. But the man who [supplied us] with radioactive isotopes was not able to keep his mouth shut, and “slipped” to friends about us. So many have asked [and] who started learning [about us] in Russia. There are witnesses to how we eat radioisotopes, and rumor here did not go [well] for us. Then there were crazed people who decided to follow us. For them, it is [not good] for them. A lot of people will try to earn money by selling us a source of radiation, and we were forced to buy them because we had [to have] something to eat.

As well, there was one bad man from Pyatigorsk. He lives near Mount Beshtau and uranium mines. He decided to do ill to us, he [created] a business on the internet. He went to Mount Beshtau, collected radioactive minerals, uranium ore, and sold it at auction, via the internet. As a result of [this] very stupid career, he [triggered] the Russian Federal Security Service. They caught him in the [act] during the next transaction with a buyer. Since this man was really envious towards us, it was with great pleasure [he told] about our existence to the Secret Services of Russia.

This happened in February, 2012. Russian Special Services took us under surveillance. They waited for the moment when [they could catch us in action]. This was the 11th of May, 2012. One of the people with which we were already familiar, which we used to buy radioactive isotopes, offered us food. It turned out, he stole the radiation sources from an existing military unit. On this day which my husband met with the man, the Russian Special Services planned an operation of capture. The Federal Security Services arrested both of them, caught during the sale and purchase of radiative substances. This is [in] an article on the internet which was leaked to the Russian media in October, 2012, due to leaks from the prosecutor's office.

The next day was hell. In the apartment where we lived [were] a lot of different services -- the Federal Security Services, the police, the Ministry of Emergency Situations, Office of Radiation Control, MOS NPO, the Ministry of Health, social services, and so on. I do not remember -- too many of them had come on that day. At this point, all hell broke loose. They had to [check] out [what was in] our bedroom, a source of radiation we kept in [our] bedroom. And outside the bedroom had [no] excess levels of radiation because they [sought] concentration, and walls will shield the radiation. This was confirmed by the Office of Radiation Control. [Living] with us in the apartment is my husband's mother, and she did not know about our way of life and had [no] contact with source radiation. We never allowed her to enter into the bedroom, closed the door when we leave the apartment. This caused her unnecessary suspicion, but we could not put her at risk, so we did this to her.

On May 12, 2012 we were all three violently forced to leave the apartment. We were provided with so-called "social housing." It is a complete nightmare. We [moved] to a completely destroyed apartment with bare floors, bare walls, no heat, no gas, no something ever with hot water. We were forced to be in such conditions for almost a month. We were allowed to drive back to the old apartment on the 2nd of June, but it's not the whole nightmare, as it is turning out. The whole procedure of exporting the radioactive substances from the apartment took just three days. A logical question: if [the substances] were taken out in three days, then what were they doing in our apartment for a month? We know what they were doing.

The Federal Security Services did their job quickly -- checking out all the data, collecting the information -- they did not hamper [the situation].

Initially, the Federal Security Services did not know of our existence, who we are, and they thought [we were] terrorists. But what they thought when they [knew] us better -- their hair stood on end. I personally watched with my own eyes when they walked in the bedroom. Imagine your first reaction when you walk into that room: breathing heavily ionized air, and the first thing that catches your eye is that the entire room is painted with cryptic writings, and a lot of things of radiation. Everywhere there are open-quartz lamps instead of conventional lamps on the tables. There are plates of uranium ore, for a drink in a cup of uranium nitrate; on the shelves is a large number of different chemicals, alkalis, for use as a meal.

You imagine their first impression of what they see.

Kerry: Very strange. Yes, I understand.

Ziria: But I guarantee I can say after that, they have lost any idea of [us being] "terrorists."

On the day the Federal Security Services [communicated] with us, they promised us that if we voluntarily agreed to give our sources of radiation, that no one would touch us, and [my] husband will not be criminally charged. They promised us further meetings, but after that day they have not appeared -- gone forever.

As a result of which, they did not keep that promise. [My] husband has two criminal cases, for the purchase of radioactive materials, and the storage of radioactive substances, materials. We gave them all of our sources of radiation, all our food which gave us life, and this is how these creatures have done to us.

Kerry: I'm very sorry to hear that, yes.

Ziria: Let them go to hell. I'm sorry.

Kerry: Okay, I hear you.

Ziria: Do you want to return to the topics? Or [to] what they were doing in our apartment [for] a month? A month in the apartment. The Office of Radiation Control. This is very interesting.

These are totally [insane] people, especially their boss. On the day of the incident, May 12, 2012, this crazy man came up to us and started asking strange questions. He started to say that we are very interesting and they we are very unique. Then he hacked our account on a social network. He [has written] and solicited us on the internet.

When we [went back] to the apartment after a long absence, I was shocked by what I saw. Eighty percent of the non-radioactive items were blatantly stolen. All of our expensive machinery, equipment, valuables, money, mobile phones. And another was stolen clothes. This is not a perversion, not distortion -- someone stole my underwear. Panties. Yes, it sounds very funny, but [nobody touched] my husband's clothes. And my pants they took. But they were very cleaned. I can guess who did this, but he assuredly had an unhealthy interest. Besides underwear, other clothes [were] stolen. I do not know why, but most of my clothes were stolen. The clothes of [my] husband [they] almost did not touch, I do not know why. We had the same clothes, and there was not anything dirty. The thing, I think, was personal things -- a lot of what had been here when my husband left, and my underwear [they] took. They are real perverts.

All right. That's not the whole story. Now I'll tell you what happened next.

Kerry: Okay.

Ziria: As a result of this incident, we have experienced a strong shock and stress. I have [had] the stress begun to appear in a very strange way. Since the incident to the present, I have been through six [cases] of clinical death -- temporary stopping of my heart, as a result of nervous strain. I do not know, maybe it was something else. But --

Kerry: Wait one moment. Let me repeat that so people could understand. So you said you experienced six times your heart stopped and you were clinically dead?

Ziria: Yes.

Kerry: And that's happened six times since the incident. . . .

Ziria: Let's continue.

Kerry: Go ahead.

Ziria: I felt an out of body experience, this clinical death. At this point in my life began, inexplicably, things that I still land into shock [about]. I do not know why, but at the moment of leaving the body I found myself at one particular place, with which I have established a strong mental connection. I can feel it inside myself. Each time during a case of clinical death I come out of the body, and [am] in the place. It feels like I left a part of myself there, and now this place has a very strong resonance with me inside.

Also, I have seen the future at the time of clinical death. I saw the future that I [for so long couldn't see], because first as I tried, I could not see the future connected with Russia. Now I understand why. During clinical death I saw my future in America. Then things occurred to me inexplicably after that. My mind began to change. I cannot go into the details of these things, it's too personal information, but I can tell you about the general situation. The first five cases of clinical death occurred between 12th of May and 15th of June [2012], then it was more or less calm. The the last, sixth, of clinical death was on the 10th day of October 2012, as a result of another high stress.

As I said before, I live in the apartment with [my] husband and his mother, who has always treated me really hostilely, and was against the marriage with [my] husband. But I was more or less tolerant to the point until the incident took place, and she [had] not learned about us [what] we had [hidden]. As a result, she accused me of all that had happened. There was a very strong nervous stress which had caused a number of cases of clinical death. We called many times for an ambulance, but no doctor can help.

The relationship with [my mother-in-law] deteriorated so badly that my existence in this apartment was threatened with deportation to the Ukraine, where I ran [from] in 2009. In August 2009, as a result of legal proceedings, [my] husband and his mother took a loan. As a result we are in a stronger loan to the tune of ten thousand dollars. And blame she has once again dumped on me. She hates me and is looking for any way to kick me out of the apartment because she is the legal owner of the home and she has the right to do with me whatever [she] wants. I wonder [how] I am still here. [It's] only because my husband was able to negotiate and compromise with her.

In August she filed a complaint with the police on me. Then came the district police to [have] a conversation; he warned if I had another complaint I [would be] deported to Ukraine against my will. For me, it's worse than death. I'm not going there for [any] reason.

But there is hope. One of our friends wanted to introduce us to Stewart Swerdlow when [he came for] a Moscow seminar. For us, it was like a ray of hope in the darkness. He wanted to do an interview with our assistance after [he] learned of our history. It was in November 2012 we recorded this interview with Stewart Swerdlow. Many sincere thanks to him, we are grateful to him. But all was not as good after that. My relationship with the mother of my husband became even worse.

Kerry: Oh.

Ziria: A lot of scandal was so great that finally decided the fate of my stay here in Moscow; [she] would like, once again, to [have me] deported to Ukraine. My husband, thanks to great efforts, agreed with [his] mother to a compromise. It allows me, for now, to stay in this apartment [until] I make money and fly away to the United States for permanent residence.

In December 2012, I got a job, but I have a tiny salary -- $500 a month. Besides, his mother wants to take away my money; she forces me to pay for the loan which I did not have anything to do [with], referring to the fact that [she] maintains I am guilty.

Now my husband is in a mental hospital, you know, for examination by court order. He was put in the hospital on December 19 [for] thirty days. After that, 19 January, this year, he has to be released. I have a real opportunity to fly from Moscow to America. I have a passport.

Kerry: Okay.

Ziria: And I have an opportunity to leave the territory of Russia. [My] husband, as a defendant by order of the court, he has no right to leave the territory of Moscow or Moscow region [for] a year and a half. He agreed to have the evaluation because this is his chance to be recognized as "insane" and thus released from criminal liability. In this case, he will be able to leave the territory of Russia.

The compromise with his mother until May 2013, this year. I was with left barely enough time to solve the problem of escape from Russia. The situation is hopeless. [Why do I have to live] in America? Because I see my future there and a place that calls me. I feel with all my heart and soul that I really need this place, that I should do so much there. It just so happens [to be] my destiny.

I am [now] concerned only [with] two questions.

The first: [I] need money for a visa and tickets and the temporary expenses until I can get work and earn money on my own. Second: I need a roommate from America who will be able to [accommodate] me, at least for a while. It does not much matter what city. It is important for me to begin to adapt and make money, and then I will move to the place which I want.

Attention: if there are people from the state of Virginia who are willing to help me with provision an apartment, it would help me twice as great, and would be the best option. Or at least New York or Washington would be preferable. But since in principle I agree to any U.S. city if only I had a place to live [during] the first time.

That's all. That's all I wanted to say about this.

Kerry: When I asked you about a bank account -- you do not have a bank account in which people can wire you money?

Ziria: Unfortunately, my bank account does not accept international orders. PayPal is not yet available. I will have to [get] a bank credit card in the near future. So far, the only affordable way for you to donate or assist with money is through Western Union. For this you will need to specify the name of the [payee], and all information is provided in your blog.

Kerry: Yes. I put it on the blog, but the name is your husband's name. Is this the correct name for the money to go to?

Ziria: Yes. The system works well in the United States and other countries. Therefore, [it is] a big help for those who can to use the Western Union system.

Kerry: So people listening, if you can donate on Western Union, his name is there in English and the address. So hopefully that's the information you will need to assist both of them.

Ziria: Yes, I understand -- in English, English name.

Kerry: So, at this point we have been going for a while. And there are many more questions that I have given you. Some questions are more important than other questions. It might be better to "pick and choose" which question is more important to answer?

To make it shorter so people . . . because this is almost for two hours now. Do you understand?

Ziria: Yep.

Kerry: Can you choose which numbered question --

Ziria: Was number four question, I think.

Kerry: I'm sorry. Which question number?

Ziria: Next -- yes. Yes. Next question.

Kerry: Okay. What I would like to talk about is, the elements of radiation that you do not use, and why not?

Ziria: We can feed on [all] radioisotopes, just not all radioisotopes can be found. The strongest physiological need I have [is] for trans-plutonium elements, and three biogenic . . . three organic elements: radium, plutonium, and uranium. This is the basis of life for us.

Kerry: Is there any radiation, such as cell phone radiation -- is this also good for you? Or no? [Pause.] This is question number fifteen.

Ziria: Can you ask. . . .

Kerry: Okay, ah, do you want me to go back to number fourteen?

Ziria: Yes. Yes, fourteen.

Kerry: Please talk about your special writing and drawing and where it came from, and how you created it.

Ziria: Yep. The symbols are a cryptic language which [was] in our heads at birth. We can say it is a "language of radiation" in some sense. These characters are a reflection of our consciousness and thinking. They come from the depths of [our] being, from the measurement of radiation.

I decided to develop an encryption system based on these characters allow you to encrypt strategic data in a most efficient way. There are three levels of encryption -- a simple, an intuitive, and combined. I wrote more about this in my blog. When [I] create a cipher, I take into account all the facts of color, shape, location, structure, purpose of the cipher -- making sense of the specific information encoded in it, and so on.

All three types of encryption are not just a visual effect, but also a mental effect, even if the person does not possess special abilities to understand this code. But I can train a person to work with these codes and [to] fully understand it. It is quite possible if I see in his mind a good disposition to accept the information.

Kerry: Can you explain more about the writing -- is this ET writing, do you think? Alien races' writing?

Ziria: Prepared as a question text.

Kerry: Is the, you know, ET writing . . . is this communicating with ETs or, with you and ETs, or just you by yourself?

[Brief interruption with Kerry's computer. To Ziria:] Hello?

Ziria: Hello.

Kerry: Hi, I'm sorry. I think that someone. . . .

Ziria: Okay, [it's] okay. This is our language, the language of radiation.

Kerry: I guess if you are able to explain more about the writing?

Ziria: More information is in my book, about this language.

Kerry: You have a book about the language?

Ziria: Yes, yes.

Kerry: Okay, so you have a book about the language. And this is your . . . cryptography?

Ziria: Yes, it's cryptic language.

Kerry: Can you tell more about the language? If it's related to any language. Do you know, for example, hieroglyphics -- Egyptian hieroglyphics?

Ziria: I do know this [is] inside my mind.

Kerry: Okay. But your husband understands it?

Ziria: Yes.

Kerry: Does he write it also?

Ziria: Yes.

Kerry: He writes it also. Okay. Would you like to go to the next question?

Ziria: Yes.

Kerry: Just so everyone listening understands: because of the language difficulty she prepared her answers. And so it's very hard for her to go off the script, here. So we'll continue with the next question.

Can you explain if you use cell phones for the radiation? If not, why not? And do you go near cell phone towers to get the radiation?

Ziria: Radiation from cell phones to us is too weak. But we do not mind it. The more powerful [the] radiation, the better we feel. We are able to get more energy from a microwave operating than from a cell phone. And just from the pyramid of power lines and powerful radio towers.

Kerry: What about chemtrails? This question is not on the list, but are you aware of chemtrails?

Ziria: What?

Kerry: Electromagnetic radiation in the sky? Chemtrails from airplanes?

Ziria: No.

Kerry: Okay, I don't think you do know what a chemtrail is. That's okay, so we'll move on.

Please share your experience of the power of pyramids and whether you have visited the pyramids they built near St. Petersburg. Do you know who Valery Uvarov is? He was head of the UFO desk of the Russian government for a while. Have you seen our interview with him?

Ziria: Yes, I've seen. But unfortunately we've never been to St. Petersburg and did not see these pyramids. We do not have a lot of practical experience with the pyramids, alas. But a lot of experience of practice with pyramidal structure of power lines. And also, when I find myself inside a pyramidal structure, I feel very powerful resonant energy with the environment.

Kerry: Do you know about the pyramids in St. Petersburg? Did you know they were there?

Ziria: Yes.

Kerry: Okay. What is your understanding about 2012 and the shift that we are in? Have you experienced precog[nition] or dreams of the future of the earth, and would you share this with us?

Ziria: Earth is now in a time of transition between the measurements and physical rearrangements in the core of the earth. This process is strongly influenced by the activity of the sun, which is now beginning to awaken. I know only one fact: this year [2013] will be a year of violent alteration in consciousness of humanity. Lucifer [will] manifest on Earth. Lucifer not in a religious sense of the word, but in the real true meaning, which means "light bringer."

Kerry: Do you dream of the future?

Ziria: Yes, yes.

Kerry: Do you remember your dreams?

Ziria: Yes, I remember many dreams.

Kerry: Can you tell us on dream? [Pause.] Okay. Do you want me to move to the next question, or can you . . . ?

Ziria: Okay.

Kerry: I guess you do not want to share any dreams then, correct?

Ziria: No, what?

Kerry: Yes, [do] you have any dreams to share?

Ziria: Of course.

Kerry: [Pause.] Go ahead. Any? Okay. I know that one of our translators has left. I'm not sure if the other one is still able to text to her, and if they can translate into text. It seems like possibly no.

So, I guess we'll go to the next question?

Ziria: Yes, next question.

Kerry: What are your psi abilities? -- and also for your husband, Radium. Telepathy, precognition, clairaudient, levitation, remote influencing; can you move objects, and so on.

Ziria: About our abilities.

Kerry: Yes.

Ziria: I just wrote a blog in more detail. This includes the following: dowsing (radiation monitoring), hypnosis, programming and de-programming consciousness, remote viewing, remote crypto-analysis, non-standard encryption and decryption of data, telepathy, remote vision, scanning of an object in the distance.

Non-standard methods of intelligence, the contact and non-contact methods of interaction with computers, encryptions and decryptions, interception of frequencies and signals -- strategic and military frequencies, and more.

All these skills I have. The only difference [is] I'm working on computers [destructively], I can take them down. And Radium, on the contrary. The most developed skills at the moment are related to non-standard methods of obtaining information and developing methods of intelligence. This is my personal initiative to date.

Kerry: You communicate with radiation. You said that radiation contains information?

Ziria: Yes, I communicate with radiation . . . and information. Radiation is [a] transmitter of information.

Kerry: What kind of information does radiation transmit?

Ziria: Any kind of information.

Kerry: About the planet?

Ziria: Yes.

Kerry: About weather? About humans? Yes?

Ziria: I can find out any information.

Kerry: Okay, we'll go to the next question. Do you remote view the planet and various countries and events in other countries? Can you describe something you saw? You know, in a viewing.

Ziria: Unfortunately, your question to me sounds too ephemeral. I need a specific purpose and connection to a place, here and now. At this moment I am connected to a completely different place, with which I have a mental connection. But I can't say about about this place.

If you're wondering that I tell about the weather on [the] Mars, now? I think it is very boring. I need facts and data. I need a specific task to perform for analysis.

Kerry: Excuse me. Can you remote view the moon?

Ziria: What exactly? You know.

Kerry: Can you remote view [an] underground base?

Ziria: Yes, yes. [The] moon [has] them. A base.

Kerry: The moon has a base.

Ziria: Yes.

Kerry: Many bases, or just one?

Ziria: Many, many. Not one. At the darkness.

Kerry: And what kind of beings? Do you see beings there? On the moon?

Ziria: Would you repeat, please?

Kerry: Human on the moon?

Ziria: Now?

Kerry: Yes.

Ziria: No.

Kerry: No?

Ziria: Now, no.

Kerry: Okay. ETs or aliens on the moon? Now?

Ziria: Yeah, yes.

Kerry: Yes?

Ziria: Yeah.

Kerry: What kind: greys, reptilians, Sirians?

Ziria: Not the same, and not other.

Kerry: A different . . .? Other? Okay, other beings. I guess we'll go to the next question. Unless, do you have anything more to say about that?

Ziria: Repeat, please.

Kerry: More data, on the moon? More information about the moon?

Ziria: What information -- what?

Kerry: Okay um, structures on the moon? Buildings, houses?

Ziria: These are underground bases.

Kerry: Underground bases, okay. Next question?

Ziria: Yep.

Kerry: If you work for governments in the future, will you work for the benefit of the human race?

Ziria: Oh yes. Yes. My personal desire and the real is that my design and abilities can be applied in the interests of national security. My projects in the field of non-standard methods of obtaining information in intelligence are unique and relevant for the entire intelligence community. These skills can find invaluable use in the anti-terrorist activities. I have a little experience in cooperating and identifying these personalities, and much more. In total, [I] will not tell much of this; it is a necessity to check out the facts through practice. Otherwise, it's just a theory. I know this because I see this prospect of the development and application.

I am by nature a practitioner [and] experimenter. I cannot live only a theory. I always need practice and practical application of my skills. My projects and skills become completely useless if they are not of any practical use. So for me, the practice -- this is my life. Yes, it would be invaluable for all mankind. All my projects, they are real. They are real only in my presence. Without me they are, in principle, impossible.

Most of all, I would like to help the world in the fight against terrorism, as this topic is the most relevant of the times. You can develop real methods that will quickly identify potential enemies and eliminate their activities long before they make something bad. I believe that the fight against terrorism is the largest area [to help] all mankind, saving millions of lives.

The help can be invaluable in the case of non-standard methods because all the old methods, as you can see, is not effective enough. Otherwise, we would not have so many problems in the world [from] terrorist groups. Therefore, I'm always ready to cooperate and provide [my] abilities in the interest of national security and the protection of the government. Again, I want to remind you: I'm not talking about Russia, and you know why. And of course, all this to apply for the benefit of mankind.

Kerry: Thank you. What is your experience with dolphins and water? Do you swim? How do you react to the ocean, to the sea? And can you communicate with dolphins?

Ziria: I really love to swim, I really love water. I respond very well to the water and I feel very comfortable in the water. Unfortunately, I was never near the ocean, and dolphins only in the dolphinarium. This is pathetic; I would love to talk to them in a more free form. They are the ancestors of the people of Earth. They are very clean, and they [surely] are very intelligent creatures.

Kerry: Thank you. As an intuitive, do you use your ability to navigate the world and has it helped you stay alive?

Ziria: It just so happens they are able to appear by themselves, these abilities. Yes. They are the result of the cruel past, they helped me all the time to survive. It works at that level of instinct. Over time I realized that they could find much more interesting, wide application, which can be used for the benefit of mankind.

Kerry: Are you familiar with security electronics, mind control, scalar waves, and that type of thing? And can you affect them -- make them larger, smaller, or make them go away?

Ziria: For all you can influence, it would be only a wish. I never do anything for [nothing]. If I do not have a specific task, I never do anything for anything. So it is with words. I cannot say nothing. If I say something, it means that there is always a reason.

Mind control is certainly interesting. The science had a lot in common with the project MK-Ultra. I was very interested in the project and the methods used. Little feedback which I find with this project, not only the developments of radiation but also mental developments. This is a very interesting and incredibly strong [topic] -- it grabs my mind.

Kerry: Are you familiar with CERN -- the large hadron collider? Are you familiar with the discovery of the "god particle" or the Higgs boson particle? And do you understand what this is?

I gave you a link in case you wanted to read the article about it. But are you familiar with this and what do you think about it?

Ziria: The Higgs boson?

Kerry: Higgs boson, yes. And the large hadron collider.

Ziria: You know, the Higgs boson, I and [my] husband, I personally have interacted with this type of particle. I know what it is. Very soon on this planet these particles will have a significant impact on all living and non-living things of this planet.

[Higgs] boson is probably the sister-particle to us, most akin to measured radiation. CERN[’s] design is amazing. I would have wanted to stand under the particle accelerator and get a boost of energy throughout the body.

Kerry: [Laughing.] Okay.

Ziria: It’s my dream.

Kerry: Well, someone who works at CERN perhaps they could give you a job at CERN. What do you think?

Ziria: That’s very interesting . . . very interesting.

Kerry: Are you aware of ley lines, grid lines around the planet, vortexes and stargates?

Ziria: Yep, of course. These power lines are vital to the functioning of the planet. Through these lines you can connect to the core of the earth and read information from the core, as well as the biosphere of the earth.

Kerry: Do you know about time travel through stargates and vortexes?

Ziria: Do you mean body travel?

Kerry: Yes.

Ziria: Mind and body travel [among] the planets . . . other places.

Kerry: Yes. Time travel.

Ziria: I was told that I have been near [death] . . . out-of-body experiences for clinical death. I moved in real time and had contact with one place, and as was seen in the future, and some of the elements of the future.

And also I am told at birth in Chernobyl, I remember when I moved back in time there were several strong jumps in time at Chernobyl Polesie.

Kerry: Okay, did you become aware of multiple dimensions and time lines? [Pause.] Multiple dimensions? Yes?

Ziria: Yes, yes, yes.

Kerry: Are you aware of the underground bases in Russia and around the world? Have you ever been in one?

Ziria: Yep, I know. But what's the use of it? Anyway, all the information is stored inside my head. I cannot just disclose strategic information to the public, need to understand themselves.

Kerry: Have you been in an underground base, do you think?

Ziria: Yes, of course yes.

Kerry: Did the government let you in a base, or did you go to remote viewing? [Pause.] Have you been in one?

Ziria: I can say this, but I [do] not want to.

Kerry: You don't want to? Okay. Are you aware of artificial intelligence, AI, that might be running this planet? [Pause.] It's question number twenty-nine.

Ziria: Yes. You know, it's a very funny question because I have something very often confused with reptilians. Also when people [are] looking at our characters and symbols, and we are immediately associated with black magic. So I do not even know what to say.

Yes, I possess a similarity to the reptilian traits, I really cannot argue. For example, I can say that I am [always] cold, I can't stand too-cold temperatures because frankly I start to fall into the state of torpor. If there is no source of radiation but in the cold I can [fall into] a stupor.

And vice versa, I am very well [able to] withstand very high temperatures. For me the most comfortable temperatures is plus sixty degrees Celsius. Reptilians are very cute and adorable creatures, really.

Kerry: Okay, so you find reptiles very cute, and you relate to them, I understand. Do you know about the Anunnaki and the dark side such as the Vatican dark magicians? Are you aware of this?

Ziria: Question in the text.

Kerry: Question twenty-nine; it's the second part of the question. Do you know about the Anunnaki?

Ziria: Yes. The reptiles.

Kerry: Ah, you call the Anunnaki reptiles. Do you know about the Vatican, you know, the Vatican?

Ziria: The Vatican, yes.

Kerry: And are you aware of dark magicians?

Ziria: Yep.

Kerry: Yes?

Ziria: I know.

Kerry: You know? Okay. Are you aware of intelligence agencies in your country and their remote viewers? And are you aware when they remote view you?

Ziria: [Laughing.] Oh, this is a topic [for] a conversation. Damn those perverts, they frankly have ticked me off. Once they connect to me they immediately get scared and run away. Usually they never go to the contact.

I myself am knocking them in the head when I think their presence [is] near now. However, they say [of] me, "You've got too aggressive energy." In short, they are very gentle and affectionate -- they do not want to deal with the energy of radiation.

Kerry: Are you susceptible to mind control, and if not, why not? And how do you suggest people protect themselves from this?

Ziria: Well, my mind is under control only by radiation -- our mind, my mind, our will is the will of radiation. Radiation is only able to control our minds. We are not susceptible to anything other than exposure, that is our identity. I can help a person with mind control but I need to work with him physically, not remotely. This is an important fact.

Kerry: If you go to live with others who are not friendly to radiation, how do you plan to protect them from exposure if you want to interact with them and live with them?

Ziria: Oh. I believe that there is nothing to worry about, just need to observe basic rules of radiation safety and not eating [radioactive sources] with the capacity of 1,000 roentgens per hour. And if I want to eat, [I will] be temporarily isolated from the people as long as the activity of my body has been reduced to a safe level for humans. Then all will be well.

Kerry: We are at the end of the questions, and we've been here doing this for a long time, so we are going to wrap it up now, and if you have any final messages or statements you would like to make, please do so.

Ziria: I think humanity must now learn to live with radiation, in harmony. [Before] it is too late. Otherwise, people are doomed to extinction. I see the future, but events can always be changed. Everything can be changed.

Kerry: Okay. Ziria thank you so much for doing this interview with us. We would like to do another interview sometime soon if you have time, and you are able to. I hope that people will donate to make it possible for you to leave Russia; I hope that your situation will improve, and that your husband can join you in another country -- if another country could give you both asylum. I think that you would probably work with that country and help that country. Isn't that right?

Ziria: Yes, yes, yes. Thank you very much. I hope for your help. Forgive me [for] my lame English.

Kerry: No, you have done a wonderful job, and I know everyone has many questions. So perhaps we also have them. . . .

Ziria: I can answer [via] the internet, as far as correspondence with people.

Kerry: Yes. And your e-mail -- her e-mail address is on the website, on the front page as well. She has a Facebook page. So anyone who has questions who did not get an answer, if you could put your questions into an e-mail I'm sure she will try to answer as much as she can. And we will try to do this again sometime very soon.

So thank you everyone for listening.

Ziria: Thank you -- thank you very much.

Kerry: Thank you. Okay, take care. Bye-bye.

Ziria: Thank you very much, Kerry. Goodbye.
